3 OLD BUSINESS

a) Sculpture Trail Update

Presenter: Sara Perricone, Board Chair

Mrs. Perricone reported "Crumple and Flow" is committed to another municipality and it would be replaced by "Seven Point Star". March 15, 2024, would be the deinstallation date for some sculptures. The installation of the sculptures will be on March 22, 2024. It was communicated "Mr. Hi There" will be relocated to the library. Mrs. Perricone advised the board of the locations for the new sculptures and that she would share this with Council the first part of March.

Mr. Hipolito inquired if there would be lights on the sculptures. Ms. Perricone stated she has provided her research of the lights and has submitted them to the department overseeing this project.

Shared was a marketing update in which Mrs. Perricone, Catherine White, and Nathanael Shelton, from the Communications Department, met in late January. It was communicated that the communications team requested information about the artist. The board was encouraged to share any photos of them interacting with people at different events or anything done as a group via a link that was provided. It was shared that a link would be provided via text message so that photos can be shared. Ms. Perricone stated the Public Art Advisory Board Highlight video is on YouTube.

Ms. Nobles stated she needs assistance with taking down the tree sweaters and they would need to be washed and dried. Shelters would need to be contacted for donation. Ms. Smallwood volunteered to take them down and wash and dry them.

4 NEW BUSINESS

a) Future Projects

Presenter: Sara Perricone, Board Chair

Mrs. Perricone stated she spoke with Mrs. Garretson regarding the Little Free Library; it was reported they have one located in the Magic Garden and the Women's Club is monitoring that one. Any independent Little Free Library must be monitored by that independent group. Discussion continued about the areas that would benefit from having them. Mrs. Perricone advised the group to where the Little Free Libraries could be purchased and their prices; another option posed was to have one built. Mr. Slaton described the materials that would be needed to build one. Mr. Slaton also stated that at the next meeting he would have different ideas, specs, and prices on this. Mrs. Perricone stated that the board would be responsible for filling them. She provided different places where the books could be purchased.

Mr. Hipolito asked if there were different locations chosen. Mrs. Perricone responded they know of one area, and she would take suggestions and ideas. Discussion continued with different suggestions.

There was discussion on creating a mural. Mrs. Perricone advised of the following stipulations: there would not be anything referencing religious, political or a signage found on the murals. Several locations were discussed. Different theme ideas were proposed. Mrs. Perricone stated there are currently seven murals in the town.
