- b) Creative Ideas
Presenter: Sara Perricone, Board Chair

Ms. Perricone proposed a list of creative ideas. She stated the "Before I Die" project was extremely popular. It was suggested to do another one similar but called it "Things I Most Appreciate in Life". There was discussion that there are a lot of benches throughout the Town that could be painted.

Suggestions made for new art projects were a mural on the Police Department building and at the Library. She stated Joy Garretson, Library Director, has expressed interest of a mural at the Library. There was mention of art on manhole covers. There was discussion of having a mural on the second floor of the Community Center.

Suggestions for future projects included: a sponsor on the Rotary building and the birdhouse project. There was discussion on more interactive sculptures. Ms. Perricone stated for the upcoming Sculpture Trail, there would be 6 large sculptures and 7 medium size ones. It was stated we would keep a sculpture at Springbrook by the hospital. Suggested new locations for sculptures were at the Post Office and by Vinson's.

Ms. Perricone discussed the budget and stated the Sculpture Trail has taken up the majority of the budget with little money left over for anything else.

There was discussion on hosting a Child Art Fair. Discussion was on a past project, painted chair art. Ms. Perricone stated when Jane Roberts was part of the board, chairs were donated and kids painted the chairs, then they were auctioned off. It was stated this was a great project.

There was discussion on placing large geometric shapes, such as squares, rectangles and triangles, throughout the Town and having artists paint them. It was mentioned about a Children's Art Passport, this would encourage children to visit sculptures, murals, etc. throughout the Town. Also, if a child checks out a book at the library they would get a stamp in their passport. It was stated this could work in conjunction with Square-to-Square.

There was discussion on Roscoe the Snake project. It was stated there are a lot of round stones in the parking lot by the Greenway, kids could paint those rocks and this would not cost a lot of money.

Ms. Perricone asked out of the mentioned projects, which projects appealed to board members? It was stated the birdhouses were a good project; we would need to find where to get discounted birdhouses. It was mentioned to do the wing mural downtown, this would be a good photo opportunity.

The top three projects that members preferred are:

Wing Mural: need to find out where we can do it.

Chair Art Project: the high school class paints them or open these up to the public like the Greenway project. It was stated to charge an entry fee and have an art exhibit with the chairs. Discussion of a silent auction.

Roscoe the Snake project.
