4 OLD BUSINESS

- a) Sculpture Trail Update
Presenter: Sara Perricone, Chair

Ms. Perricone stated all sculptures have been installed and she has received a tremendous amount of positive feedback. There was discussion about keeping Valkyrie in town and working on raising the money to purchase it. The artist, Jack Howard-Potter, said he would gift this to the town for the rest of the year. Ms. Perricone stated she hoped to raise money to purchase the piece by the end of the year.

The plaques will be up next week. PIO office has completed the brochures. Nader Aboulhosn, Communication Development Specialist, interviewed the artists and is finalizing those videos. The PIO office will begin posting pictures of the sculptures on the Town's social media accounts. Mr. Aboulhosn will be handling interviews with local business owners about the benefit of having art in the Town. The PIO office will write an article that goes into detail about the full process of the Sculpture Trail. Ms. Perricone is working with PIO office to try to get more coverage in magazines and on news channels about this project.

5 NEW BUSINESS

- a) Public Art Promotions
Presenter: Sara Perricone, Chair

Ms. Perricone met with Mayor McLeod about the budget, next year we would have two more sculptures in the Sculpture Trail and hope to have an increase in the budget. Ms. Perricone stated she felt the board would have enough money to fund the first trunk to get into the first part of next school year. There was discussion about hosting a Gala to raise money for the board. There was discussion on the possibility about expanding the Greenway Art Project and a possible mural in the tunnel near the Greenway.

- b) School Art Project
Presenter: Kim Helmer

Ms. Helmer stated she has received a lot of input from Ms. Long on this project. The first priority is figuring out where to begin and what needs to be purchased first. The first idea for this project would be a project on murals. There was discussion on whether or not the schools have the correct technology for this first go round. It was discussed that only one school at a time would be able to check this trunk out.

There was further discussion on what exactly would need to go into the trunk. As far as basic essentials, Ms. Long stated she thinks she is all set. As far as the art the children would duplicate, there was discussion on copying the mural on the Crawford building or a different image. There was no decision made on that. The idea would be to have a small piece of material for each child to draw/color/paint, and then merge all the small pieces together to merge into one mural.

It was decided that Thanksgiving Elementary would be the guinea pig for this project with Ms. Long being the lead. Ms. Long stated she has 800 students total, there was discussion on whether to include all students or just a certain grade. It was decided to start this project out with the 5th graders. There was discussion on having an outline that the students could color in the lines rather than having to completely redraw a portion of the artwork piece.

Ms. Nobles shared information on the increase on art supplies. There was further discussion on the type of material, whether to do this on a canvas or sail cloth.

Ms. Perricone suggested to get a price from Mr. Hipolito on the canvas. There was also discussion on Joy Garretson researching the cost of the canvas. Ms. Nobles stated if you buy raw canvas it is less expensive but it must be primed. The canvas and any specialty tools would be the bulk of the purchase for this project. At this time, the project would have a budget of $5,000.

At the last meeting, Ms. Garretson had mentioned including books in the trunk. There was discussion on including a couple of aprons for the teacher's to wear to include a Velcro strip that would be able to change out the topic name. These aprons would remain in the trunk. Ms. Murray suggested creating a logo for this project. Some of the logo names suggested were "Trunk It" and "Crate to Create".

Mr. Martin discussed sitting down with Mr. Hipolito to talk about his mural process on video. This portion would be a digital resource for this trunk. This video could include some of the guitars and skateboards he has painted. When the trunk is sent out, there could be a QR code with more details in it.

There was more discussion on the sail cloth. Ms. Nobles stated this could be put together with stretch-a-strip and this process would not be as heavy as canvas. She stated Fuquay has this process a lot on their buildings.

There was discussion to meet again between meetings to find out what materials and paint would be needed. Ms. Helmer stated she would talk to Ms. Garretson about the books and resources and Ms. Nobles will price out different materials.
